CONNECTED SITE Wootton Bridge - Troll alliance

KNOWN CLUES Paw prints, grey fur, fake silver bullets

DANGER LEVEL Variable. Do not interrupt dinner.

THE F.O.L.L.I.E.S. BRIEF

Federation of Legendary Lore Investigation and Evidence Specialists

Moonrise changes everything. Count the pack, check the paw prints and never purchase emergency equipment from the creature it is meant to stop.

FIELD RULE

If a werewolf offers a bargain, inspect the steak menu first.

FOLLOW THE PAW PRINTS

EVIDENCE WALL

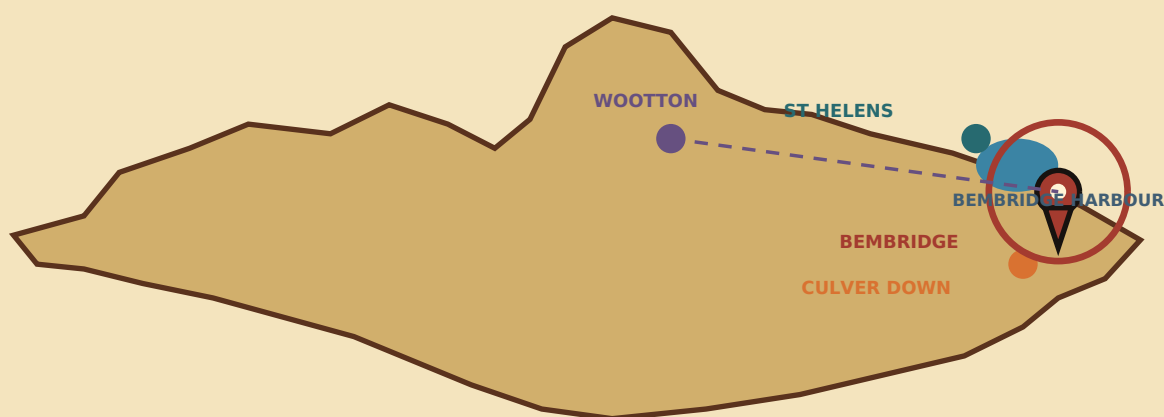

Professor Follies connected the clues: a huge paw cast, coarse silver fur, a polished “silver bullet”, a cake wrapper and a miniature enchanted flute.

The main circle belongs at Bembridge. One long purple thread leads west to Wootton Bridge and a remarkably grumpy Troll.

WHERE DOES LUNA KEEP WATCH?

EAST ISLE OF WIGHT • BEMBRIDGE AT THE ISLAND'S EASTERN EDGE

GROUND CHECK: Bembridge sits at the island's eastern end beside a large harbour. Culver Down rises to the south, St Helens faces the harbour, and the pack's old friendship trail runs west to Wootton Bridge.

LOCATION CONFIRMED • MOONRISE PENDING

EVIDENCE 01: MOONRISE

By day, Luna could pass for an ordinary islander with unusually excellent hearing. Moonlight revealed the rest.

Strength, speed, fur and golden-eyed night vision arrived in a sweep of silver magic. The change looked dramatic, but Luna treated it like putting on a very complicated coat.

WHAT CHANGES UNDER MOONLIGHT?

1

EYES

Golden night vision; spots movement at distance.

2

EARS

Hears footsteps, whispers and cake tins.

3

NOSE

Tracks sea air, wildflowers and steak.

4

MUSCLES

Speed and strength increase dramatically.

FIELD NOTE: The moon changes the body. Luna's judgement remains her greatest strength.

WHO RUNS WITH LUNA?

LUNA

Alpha • strategist • guardian of the territory

MARKUS

Inventor • storyteller • confident salesman

FENRIR

Strongest • enormous appetite • loyal friend

WOLFHART

Joker • pub storyteller • professional teaser

The pack survives through teamwork, quick thinking and an emergency supply of snacks.

EVIDENCE 02: THE SILVER STORY

Markus invented a rumour that only silver bullets could stop a werewolf. Then the pack sold polished props to worried hunters.

Silver did absolutely nothing. The coins did, however, produce a considerable steakhouse fund. Luna called it clever. Professor Follies called it suspiciously well presented.

HOW A MYTH BECOMES DINNER

1

MARKUS INVENTS

One extremely confident story.

2

HUNTERS REPEAT

The rumour travels faster than evidence.

3

PROPS ARE SOLD

Shiny objects exchange hands.

4

STEAK ARRIVES

The pack declares the plan successful.

INVESTIGATOR'S RULE: A dramatic claim still requires ordinary evidence.

EVIDENCE 03: FAIRY CAKES

The pack's fairy cakes contained fairy magic - never fairies. Twinkle donated one glowing drop of wildflower essence to each enormous bowl.

Every fairy supervised safely from the rim. Each cake tasted of gingerbread, moonlight and flowers, with just enough magic to make a werewolf's ears twitch.

THE FAIRY-CAKE AGREEMENT

1 DROP

Donated wildflower fairy essence

3 SPOONS

Moonlit gingerbread spice

1 BOWL

Ordinary cake mixture - enormous size

0 FAIRIES

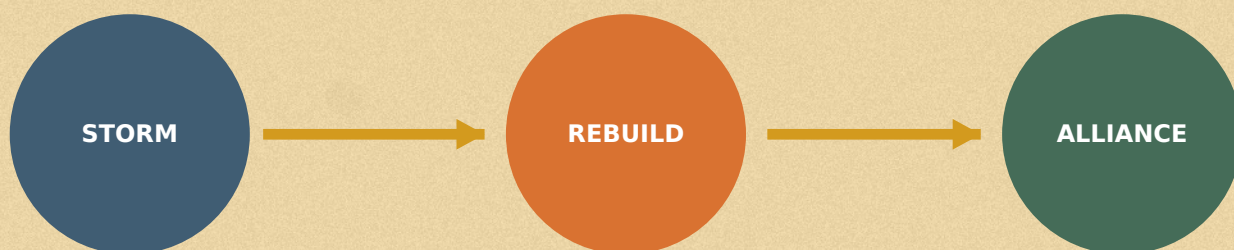

Captured, squashed or baked

Twinkle approved the recipe. Luna approved the portion size. Both considered this a successful negotiation.

WHY DOES THE WOOTTON TROLL HELP?

Long ago, a fierce storm damaged the Troll's home. Luna's pack helped rebuild it. The Troll promised to guard their western route.

The friendship endured because both sides valued loyalty, strength and the occasional completely unnecessary prank.

A grumpy friend who turns up in a storm is still a very good friend.

At the Wootton pub, the Troll insisted the werewolves disrupted the peace. Then he joined their band as lead singer.

The enchanted instruments played, fairies danced and villagers gathered. "Fairy Good Music" gained one deep voice, several extra drums and a traffic light nobody remembered inviting.

BEMBRIDGE: HARBOUR, DOWN AND MILL

Bembridge occupies the Isle of Wight's eastern edge. Its large harbour holds sailing boats, fishing vessels and houseboats, while Culver Down rises nearby.

Bembridge Windmill dates from the early 1700s and is the island's last surviving windmill. The werewolves are legendary; the harbour, down and windmill are very real.

A real landscape gives even the wildest moonlit story somewhere to stand.

GUARDIAN RECORD

The villagers eventually learned that Luna's pack was not simply roaming the night - it was watching over Bembridge.

A raised-paw greeting became the safest way to show respect. The secret phrase remained in the restricted file, because even legends need sensible security.

WHAT THE EVIDENCE SHOWS

POWERFUL

Moonlight unlocks remarkable abilities.

CUNNING

A rumour can be profitable - and misleading.

LOYAL

The pack remembers those who helped.

SOCIABLE

Music, cakes and stories build trust.

FINAL FINDING: Luna's pack is fearsome, funny and far more complicated than the rumours sold about it.

WHAT DO YOU THINK?

1. Why did the silver-bullet rumour spread so quickly?

2. Which werewolf ability would be useful on an ordinary day?

3. Was Markus clever, dishonest or a little of both?

4. What enormous snack should the pack try next?

5. Why did Luna and the Wootton Troll become loyal friends?

6. What instrument should the Troll sing beside at the next concert?

Professor Follies says: The best protection against a wild rumour is a calm question and a very large magnifying glass.
